

Emily Hauptmann is Professor of Political Science at Western Michigan University. Her research focuses on the effects of private and public funding on what political scientists study and how they study it.

Recently published: